“The world needs more of this—this kind of sustained, informed, deep gee-whizdom.”—Washington Post

As a champion of nature, John Muir Laws has dedicated his life to generating a passionate love of the environment across the country. His popular book The Laws Guide to the Sierra Nevada is praised by outdoor connoisseurs as a naturalist’s bible and contains nearly 3,000 original watercolor paintings covering over 1,700 species found in the Sierra Nevada alone.

Now, John Muir Laws is focusing his attention on the San Francisco Bay Area with the release of a brand-new set of habitat guides. Each foldout guide is artfully rendered and designed for convenient use outdoors. The waterproof and tear-proof guides in each box set display the plant and animal species commonly found in four distinct Bay Area habitats:

Near creeks, rivers, and ponds
On grassy hills and in fields
At the beach and on the bay
Among the oaks and the pines

Produced in collaboration with Audubon California, The Laws Pocket Guides are the perfect companion for any hike, any age groups, and any outdoor adventure in the Bay Area.
